

PRESS RELEASE

Members of the Professional Women Singers Association (PWSA), founded in 1982, will be presenting a concert fundraiser commemorating the centennial of World War I on Tuesday, June 9th, 7pm, at the Episcopal Actors' Guild located at 1 East 29th St. in Manhattan. The concert entitled "It's a Long Way to Tipperary" features songs from the Great War written from 1914 – 1918. Seven talented singers accompanied by virtuoso pianist LeAnn Overton will present classical, popular, and patriotic favorites written in French, German, English, and Yiddish, representing various countries that participated in WWI. Tickets are $25/$20 for EAG members. Reservations are highly encouraged as seating is limited for what promises to be a great, nostalgic evening of song and camaraderie. To reserve your seats, please email: professionalwomensingers@gmail.com.

After the concert, the audience is invited to a reception at the Lexington Armory Bar located at 68 Lexington Ave. Tickets to the after party will be $15 per hour for unlimited drinks at the jolly bar.

This concert is presented as part of Army Week NYC (June 8-15) and all profits will be donated to the Army Week Association, a non-profit (501c3) organization that aids and assists communities in welcoming back their sons and daughters from service, helps them care for those that need more assistance due to the rigors of combat, and comforts the families of the fallen.

The Professional Women Singers Association is a non-profit organization that advances careers of women singers and promotes musical excellence.
